Court of Sessions, all eager to see the minutes.

They were disappointed.
After thinking the matter over seriously. District-Attorney Ridgway announced that he had changed his mind. To the reporters he said:

"I don't see upon what ground I would have the right to ask Judge Moore for permission to publish these minutes. But I can see why Mayor Boody, as defendant, might ask to have them published on the ground that some of the evidence may have been false and untrue. If Mayor Boody should ask for the minutes I would certainly do all in my power to get them for him."
Somebody said that the District-Attorney was weakening, and had been frightened out of his original intention.

Mayor Boody arrived at the City Hall this morning after a week at the World's Fair.

The Mayor immediately announced that he would say nothing about the scathing language contained in the presentment made by the Grand Jury, in which the jurors regretted especially that they could not indict His Honor.

An "Evening world" reporter carried Mayor Boody the information that the District-Attorney was waiting to hear from him before making application for the minutes of the Grand Jury. The Mayor said: Mayor said:

The case of Philip J. Coffey, who was private secretary to Mayor Gleason, was also adjourned until Fall.

Lawyer Van Vechten, counsel for ex-Mayor Gleason, said that he and the District-Attorney had arranged not to have the ex-Mayor appear in court to plead to the indictments against him until Fall. The reason given for this was that Gleason was just recovering from a serious illness and was still under the care of a physician. This case was also postponed until the Fall term of court.

Gleason is under indictment for de-frauding the city, as alleged, in the purchase of an old fire engine and for auditing a fraudulent claim against the

But the Cyclone Did & Lively Business at Avon Beach.

Little evidence remained this morning f the wreck caused by the storm last night to the Avon Beach pler at Bath

The canvas covering the pier, which had been blown into ribbons, had been taken in during the night by employees of the place, and the chairs and tables of the place, and the chairs and tables that had been swept overboard were nearly all recovered, but in a dilapidated condition.

condition.

The storm broke at about 9 o'clock, a time when the 350-foot pier was crowded. A band was playing and perspiring waiters rushed about distributing the amber-colored liquid.

Even before the canvas began to give way the crowd sought shelter in the adjoining hotel, so that when the big blow came there were few in any peril.

The fears at first entertained that several lives had been lost proved groundless, nor was any one seriously injured, so far as reported. The only dead body found was that of a dog.

Proprietor G. G. Soule, who was prestrated from shock and heart trouble immediately after the storm, will recover.

He wen: into the prayer-meeting at Paraon Holt's church last Sunday evening and began singing "Ta-ra-ra Boomde-ay" with a double shuffle accompaniment in the middle aisie. He had threatened to do the parson if the latter interfered with his amusement. Mr. Holt was in the midst of his prayer at the time, but he suspended the religious exercises temporarily and came down from the pulpit to tackle the intruder. Seaman saw him coming, and noticing that the six-foot parson had Itod in his eye, his courage and brayado deserted him, and he turned and made for the door.

The parson was too quick for him, however, for he had the "Terror" by the nape of the neck before he had gone half a dozen steps, and with a vigorous application of sole leather he soon had Seaman outside the door and was making the "Terror" bit the dust in the road. He went into the prayer-meeting at oad.

After that service was resumed, but ust as the benediction was being prolounced Seaman returned and had a lyely scrap with Descon Root at the lively scrap with Descon Root at the door.

Mr. Holt heard the noise, and immediately started to the assistance of the Deacon, prepared to do up the "Terror" a second time. The latter saw the parson coming, however, and took to his heels, with the minister after him. They sprinted across a ten-acre lot and over several fences, but the "Terror" proved to be a better man with his legs than the parson, and succeeded in reaching the woods before his pursuer could catch up with him.

The constable at Mineola has a warrant for Seaman's arrest, but he has not shown himself in Jericho since his encounter with the parson.

HAS HER MOTHER ELOPED?

Little Mary Gastano Was Left in a Fruit-Dealer's Care.

An elopement in the Italian colony in Brooklyn was brought to light by Detective Farrell, of the Hamilton evenue police station this morning. On Tuesday afternoon a woman, ac companied by a pretty dark-haired girl about three years old, called at Michael McAtello's fruit store, 496 Smith street, McAtello's fruit store, 496 Smith street, and asked permission to leave the girl in the fruit dealer's care. She said she was going downtown and would return later for the child.

McAtello agreed to look after the little one until her mother called again, and the woman left. She has not returned. McAtello kept the child until this morning, when he concluded that the woman did not intend to come back, and he visited Capt. Driscoll, at the Hamilton avenue station, and told his story.

Detective Farrell was sent out to investigate the matter. He learned that the little girl was Mary Gaetano, and that she was the daughter of Mrs. Ida Gaetano, who lived until Tuesday at 5 Ninth street. On that day, the detective discovered, the woman disappeared, and further inquiry led to the information that she had eloped with a handsome young Italian.

An effort was made to discover the tion that she had eloped with a hand-some young Italian.

An effort was made to discover the child's father, but he has also disap-peared. It is said he has gone in search of his missing spouse.

The little girl was sent to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Chil-dren, and Detective Farrell will continue his search for the Gaetanos.

tions Made in Court.

Ex-Judge Morris, counsel for the Brooklyn City Railroad Company, was occuesed in the City Court Brooklyn this morning by Lawyer Charles J Patterson, of having made a false affi davit in order to influence the Coroner's non case, and also of shamming illness of the Court. The accusation was made when Judge Morris made application to open a default by which Mr. Patterson got a verdict of $10,000 against the Brooklyn lity road for Annie Cannon who was injured while riding on one of the Company's cars.

Judge Morris is highly respected in Kings County as a lawyer, and the Court was surprised when the charges were made. Mr. Patterson submitted affidavits to the effect that the order that the trial should go on was imperative, and the Court ruled that the illness of ex-Judge Morris was not sufficient reason to cause an adjournment. Mr. Patterson said that after Mr. Morris had filed the affidavit of his alleged illness he met Judge Clement, of the City Court, to whom he pretended to be ill, and worked the features of his face into contortions of agony. That night, Mr. Patterson said, Judge Morris sat on the steps o fhis home enjoying himself. The next day he sent word that he was still ill. That night Mr. Patterson said, Mr. Morris spent at the Oxford Club.

When these charges were made Judge Morris denounced the allegations as false, exclaiming excitedly: "They accuse me of swearing falsely.

They make it appear that I have been trifling with this court." Mr. Patterson said the charges were Judge Osborne said he would give ex-Judge Morris a chance to prove that the charges were false, but that the Court was rather inclined to rule against him. Judge Morris has made a fortune in his law practice. He lives at 81 South Oxford street, and is a member of all the swell clubs in Brooklyn.

DULL DAY IN WALL STREET.

Manhattan Drops on Postponement of Rapid Transit Matter. WALL STREET, Thursday, July &-

The closing of the London exchanges on account of the royal marriage added to the prevailing dulness in Wall street today. FIFTH POSTPONEMENT.

Manuattan Athletic Club Bulldmg Sale Now July 20.

When Auctioneer Peter F. Moyen ventually succeeds in selling the realts of the Manhattan Athletic Club the brokers on 'Change propose to cut the largest watermelon procurable. It will be a memorable event, t

It will be a memorable event, they argue, for to-day was the fifth time that Mr. Meyer has mounted his little box in the real estate salesroom at ill Broadway and called attention to the fact that this magnificent property was in the market.

The sale to-day was to have been a foreclosure sale, held by order of the holders of the first mortgage. Adrian and Columbus O'Donnell Iselin, but Auctioneer Meyer blithely remarked that it would not go on as billed, but would be postponed until July 20 at the same phour, high noon, and the same place. That made the fifth postponement.

The property was put up just once for sale and then there were no bidders. The continued lack of bidders has caused the succeeding adjournments.
